

Take the City Nature
Challenge 2018

April 27 – 30

with GOMMEA and others in Maine!

What is the City Nature Challenge?

The City Nature Challenge uses iNaturalist (an app for sharing field observations) and pits cities across the country in a race to see who can get the most participation and the most posts. This year Maine is competing as a “city”!

How can you participate?

Join GOMMEA for one of our several outings to guide people in using iNaturalist and in exploring our amazing marine environments. Get outside, look for living things, snap their pictures, and post your observations! Our goal is to document and identify as many different species around us as we can, and to put Maine on the CNC map!

Visit www.gommea.org for details and location information

